

Words of the Mother – III

Prosperity stays consistently only with him who offers it to the Divine.

*

Unselfish prosperity: he who receives it abundantly, gives all that he has as he receives it.

*

Generosity gives and gives itself without bargaining.

*

Let money come and go in abundance for good works.

*

To me any activity is more important than its cost to me, even if the cost is unreasonable. Money should never be the criterion for such decisions. If we say we can't have something because of its cost, we limit our receptivity to the Grace and hamper its workings. Money is only a medium of exchange, it is all relative and the Divine resources are inexhaustible. Is this attitude a correct one?

You are quite right and I approve of your attitude.

*
* *

Never mix in your thought spiritual power and money because it leads straight to catastrophe.

*

A gift made through vanity is profitable neither to the giver nor to the receiver.
